DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

Figure showing "conventional" subject matter should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

Claims 1 and 2 are objected to because of the following informalities: In claim 1, line 6 and claim 2, line 4 "like" should be avoided and "its" should be clarified. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mulligan et al (US 5, 922,023).

Art Unit: 3765

Mulligan discloses an adhesive bra with a first bulk structure 2 of adhesive silicone; an outer film 2a on the first bulk structure and a second bulk structure 3 formed in the first bulk structure structured as claimed. (See Mulligan, figures 1-4 and col. 2, line 36 – col. 3, line 18). Mulligan et al discloses molding the cup forms as broadly claimed in claim 5.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mulligan (US 5,522,023) in view of Hebert (US 6,074,272).

Mulligan discloses the invention substantially as claimed. However, Mulligan et al does not specifically disclose the breast cup as including an antibiotic deodorant. Hebert discloses a breast cup with an antibiotic deodorant thereon to prevent odors from emanating from the wearer. (See Hebert, col. 5, lines 18-30).

Claims 4 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mulligan et al in view of Chen (US 6,758,720).

Mulligan discloses the invention substantially as claimed. However, Mulligan does not specifically disclose the connection links between the cups. Chen discloses bra cups with connection links 14 (as seen in figure 1 and throughout the specification) there between to connect the cups together and to adjust the cups to provide cleavage enhancement. Accordingly it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the breast cups of Mulligan et al with the teaching of Chen to include the links between the cups to both connect the cups for ease in donning and doffing and to provide adjustability there between which provides cleavage.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
